You Can Get Far More Value from Experts, Gurus and Consultants

“The overall experience was extraordinarily positive and actually transcended my high level of expectations. I couldn’t be more impressed.”

Bill Olson, CEO, MRINetwork

Do You Use Outside Resources? If So, How Do You:

- Eliminate projects which generate low returns?
- Get the most value from every consultant every time?
- Make change stick after the consultant leaves?
- Find breakthrough thinkers who will exceed objectives?
- Lock in success using sophisticated pricing structures?
- Eliminate resentment, stonewalling and sabotage by employees?
- Build better projects before an outsider is ever contacted?
- Choose the best firm for every situation?
- Spot the hidden agendas which take consultants off task?
- Eliminate productivity-killing activities?
- Understand the true value of going to the outside?
- Lower outcome risks and cost risks?

“Clients can do better projects and get better results 90% of the time.”

Virtually every company, large and small, turns to outside resources to help achieve aspirations or solve problems. U.S. businesses spent over $150 billion on management consulting services last year even though satisfaction falls flat.

Whether you are mid-project with a consultant or are considering one of our member companies, we will help you improve results while reducing the risk and pain of dealing with consultants. Guaranteed.

How? We have developed innovative approaches to finding, contracting and using experts, gurus, consultants and other service providers.

In addition to our direct participation with you, we provide valuable models, sophisticated software and reference materials so that your company will always get higher value from outside experts. Even when we’re gone.
